FRENCH MISSIONS.

The Chinese Attacks Growing More Serious.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27. Advices per steamship Batavia which arrived from Victoria, B. C., state that Admiral Belknap commanding the Asiatic squadron, received a dispatch from United States Consul General Leonard at Shanghai June 1st, saying the band of Chinese which destroyed the French Missions at Wolo Sich on the night of May 31st, is reported to be at Soo Choo on the direct route to Shanghai and that the indications pointed to their making an attack on the French Missons eighteen miles from Shanghai and at Sachaker, four miles from Shanghai. Consul General Leonard states that one Russian and one French gunboat are arranging to go up river, making nine gunboats for the river, and that one British gunboat and the United States steamer Alliance were at Shanghai. A dispatch was received by Admiral Belknap from Captain Curley, of the Alliance, June 9th, confirming the report of destruction of Woo Sich Missions, and stating that the situation is regarded at Shanghai as serious.

THE OXFORD CREW

Will not Row Yale, But Would Like a Race With Harvard.

LONDON, June 27. The boat club of the Oxford University recently received a challenge from the crew of Yale College to row a race on the Thames the latter part of September. The Oxford crew was about to accept the challenge when the news of the defeat of Yale by Harvard yesterday was cabled to London. A special meeting of the Oxford Club was thereupon called for to-day at which it was resolved not to accept Yale's challenge, owing to the fact that she had been beaten by Harvard. It was resolved, however, to row against Harvard if such a match could be arranged for the latter part of August.

BIG FIRE ON BROADWAY.

Armory of the 71st New York Regiment Burned—Loss $100,000.

NEW YORK, June 27. The 71st regiment armory here was completely gutted by an early morning fire. The estimated loss is $100,000. The roof was burned and the walls were left standing. The regiment loses everything. The first alarm was sounded a few minutes past 2 o'clock and was quickly followed by three others. The big blaze lit up the upper part of Broadway for several hours, and it was half-past five o'clock before the firemen succeeded in getting the fire under control.

The armory fronted on Broadway, and extended from Forty-fourth to Forty-fifth street. The main body of the structure was two stories high. On the corners it was three stories with towers. It extended 100 feet on Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets. The ground floor was occupied as stores. Just where the fire started cannot for the present be definitely ascertained. The awning of the Barrett House, a block away, caught fire from the flying sparks. There are a number of dwellings in the vicinity of the armory, the occupants of which were for a time terror stricken. They left their apartments and did not return until the fire was under control. The members of the regiment had 300 uniforms and their arms in the armory, all of which were lost. Twenty boxes of ammunition were saved.

SLATE WORKS SHUT DOWN.

PROSPERITY AND PROGRESS.

What the President Says of His Trip.

NEW YORK, June 27. The World prints an interview with President Harrison, in which he reviews his recent journey through the South and West. The President said substantially:

My visit to the South and to the Pacific country was a series of daily surprises, and I experienced a keen sense of personal enjoyment and gratification from the beginning to the end. The mountain regions of the Carolinas, of Tennessee and of Georgia, with the new industrial communities which have sprung into existence, could fail to interest and should not be under-estimated.

They afford a vision of the great South that is to come, a South of increased industry, prosperity and material wealth. The reception I had was a tribute of respect to the Presidential office, and of hospitality and courtesy towards the individual. I can say without reservation that from first to last I was received with kindness by everybody. Permit me to say that the regard for the national emblem, the flag of a common country, which I everywhere beheld, was very agreeable. The men of the South realize to-day as they never did before that we have in the United States a great and powerful nation of which they are proud.

Nearly all the states I visited appeared extremely prosperous. As I approached nearer and nearer to Texas, I became more and more impressed by the opportunities which are enjoyed, and are becoming appreciated by the people of that state.

With a rapidly increasing population and growing understanding of the possibilities that thus will realize, I see unlimited prosperity for those within her borders. I was received with warm hospitality by the Texans, and my trip down through the midland counties to Galveston was attended by a general welcome from all. My remarks upon reciprocity and upon the development of the trade of Galveston which ought to follow, among other things proper and much needed harbor improvements, were the result of my earnest convictions.

I held interesting conversations with many prominent citizens, one, for instance, with Governor Hogg. I have seen the Governor since, and he gave me information which will, I think, result well for the future of his State.

California, like Texas, was a new country to me. I had previously visited the northern Pacific slope, the Oregon and the Puget Sound districts. The characteristic exuberance of California hospitality poured on me until I felt there was no limit.

In the infrequent intervals which were not occupied by the attentions of the people, I feasted my eyes upon the rich fruits, the gorgeous flowers and the peculiar and varied natural attractions the climate develops. In conclusion the President said: "If all men were permitted to derive as much personal satisfaction from a tour throughout their country as myself I think the span of human existence would be increased."

PROBABLY STOLEN.

Disappearance of a Livery Stable Team.

WINTHROP, June 28. Fred W. Eaton, proprietor of the Winthrop House stable, let a team a few days since to go to Monmouth, six miles away, and return immediately. Neither the team or driver have been heard from. Parties say no such team has been seen in Monmouth. It is undoubtedly stolen.

WHAT BABIES LIKE.

"We tried almost every kind of food for our little Mary, but she would touch none of them after the first mouthful. Finally we tried Lactated Food, and she likes it very much. It agrees with her in every way, and she is a nice, healthy child." Mrs. Alba Woods, 16 Florence St., East Somerville, Mass.

Business Items.

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB'S MIDSUMMER TOURS.

Summer tourists and pleasure-seekers should read Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's list of July and August tours. Nothing better could well be devised. There are thirty different short trips to select from, and as the return tickets in all cases may be extended, the excursion may be made to occupy only a part of the vacation season, a more protracted sojourn being made at some convenient mountain, spring, lake, or seashore retreat. Then, for longer excursions, there are trips to the Yellowstone National Park, the Pacific Coast, and Alaska, with incidental journeys over the picturesque Canadian Pacific Railway. The Yellowstone National Park may be seen in twenty days; the same with the Canadian Pacific route, and the Pacific Northwest in thirty-six days; and Alaska may be added in a tour that occupies only fifty days. The trips to eastern resorts occupy from five to twenty-one days. Descriptive circulars may be obtained of Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston. They will be sent free on application.

A ROMANCE IN A NUTSHELL.

She went to a ball; wore too thin clothing, caught cold; was very ill for many days; a devoted admirer brought a remedy, when her life seemed to hang by a thread; she took it; recovered; and, finally, married the man who had saved her life. And the remedy he brought her was Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is a certain cure for all throat and lung diseases and scrofulous complaints, of which consumption is one. MThd&w

BREWER LOCALS.

Schooners Julia Ann and Anna D. Price are loading at Gould & Hastings' mill.

Mr. Harry M. Prentiss arrived home from New Hampshire yesterday morning.

Miss Lou Nickerson, of Boston, is visiting with Miss Sue Brown, on Washington street.

Mr. Samuel Conners, baggage master at Winslow, spent Sunday at his home in this city.

The steamer William Conners is lying near the ferry slip waiting for the log business to start up again.

Dr. Mitchell and wife, of Bucksport spent Sunday with Mrs. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Royal, of this city.

Schooner Emma J. Meyer is lying at Stetson's wharf and will take a cargo of ice after the Gertrude A. Bartlett is loaded.

Mr. John Howard and wife, of Massachusetts, formerly of this city, are visiting with Mr. Thomas Simmons, on Eastern avenue.

A number of Brewer gentlemen participated in an excursion to Bar Harbor yesterday. The weather was not very favorable but an enjoyable time was had.

Brewer lodge, No. 78, of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, which holds its meetings in Harlow's Hall, are going to place a handsome sign by the door on the street.

Native green peas have appeared in our markets, the first lot being brought Saturday by Mr. Leander Babcock, of South Orrington. It was quite a large lot and a fine looking one.

Brewer water takers are notified in our advertising columns that water rates are due and payable July 1st, and that ten per cent. will be added to all bills remaining unpaid July 20th.

Field strawberries have appeared in our markets and some very nice lots are to be seen. Picking them is one of the small boys' many ways of earning money for the glorious Fourth.

Mr. J. H. De Hasett, of Curacoa, came with Capt. Jordan, of the schooner Edna, for a visit in this city. He will probably stay until Capt. L. B. Smith, American consul at that place, returns there.

The funeral of the late Thomas E. Dunn occurred Saturday afternoon from St. John's Catholic church in Bangor, and a large number of friends and relatives were present to pay their last tribute of respect to him.

Somebody's parrot was loose on Holyoke street Saturday and all the children and a good many older people were interested in the attempts to capture him. At last accounts he had not been caught, however, nor any owner found.

Between one hundred and twenty-five, and one hundred and fifty new books are to be added to the library at the First Methodist church. It now contains about four hundred volumes and when the new books are added will be one of the largest in the city.

Capt. S. H. Barbour received a telegram Saturday obtaining the news that the schooner Hattie H. Barbour had been run down in the Delaware Bay by a steamer and filled with water. She was on her way from Savannah to Philadelphia with a cargo of hard pine lumber.

Saturday evening Mrs. Herbert Lord received a large bunch of flowers, sent by mail from Florida by her sister, Mrs. John W. Wellington. They were in a very good state of preservation, and were a beautiful evidence of the regard Mrs. Wellington has for her sister in her illness, and were appreciated as such.

The steamer Henry Morrison is lying at Rollins' wharf, above the ferry slip. She has already been engaged for a number of excursions. She is one of the best arranged boats for excursions that has been used for that purpose here for a long time, and people will doubtless appreciate the fact.

The store of F. W. Doane & Co., of South Brewer, was broken into Friday night and some two dollars in change in the money drawer and some jewelry and cutlery taken, in all several dollars. The entrance was made by breaking a large square of glass in the rear of the store. No clue to the perpetrators was to be found.

The last reports from the contributions for the Y. P. S. C. E. county banner showed that about twenty-two dollars had been pledged. All the societies have not been heard from however, and it is expected that this amount will be swelled somewhat. The banner decided upon by the committee costs twenty-five dollars. If a larger amount is raised, all over the twenty-five dollars will be used in purchasing a better staff for the banner. The banner that has been selected is blue in color and will be very handsome.

PETRIFIED POTATOES. Mr. Amos King found the other day, while some digging was being done under the Methodist church, several specimens of petrified potatoes. The proof that they were potatoes was apparent in every detail, as the eyes, rotten spots, holes made by worms, creases in the skins, etc., could be plainly seen. One specimen had preserved nearly its natural color, and in it was a cut, probably made with a hoe, such as is very often seen in a potato. Another was apparently a portion of one and on the side that seemed to be the inside, near the edge could be seen the ridge around an eye that was on the outside. They were found about four feet below the surface of the ground in a layer of "pin" gravel. It is not known how they came to be there, but probably have been there for a good many years.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Sunday School Concert at the First Methodist Church.

The children's concert at the First Methodist church last evening was a successful event in every way and the large audience present taxed the capacity of the building to its utmost limit. Many people who wished to attend not being able to find room had to be turned away. The feature of the evening was the ship, which was named "Hope," which was built on the pulpit platform, with the children in it and their singing. The ship was white in color, and with sails set and flags flying presented a beautiful appearance. Of the children in it, two were boys, one dressed to represent the captain, the other the mate, and the remainder were girls all dressed in white.

About the ship the decorations consisted of evergreens and beautiful flowers and on and in front of the organ loft they were the same, and in both places the effect was very pretty. The vessel was the work of [illegible] George A. Savage and C. C. [illegible] of Bangor, and J. L. Lamson, of Brewer.

Horses Affected With the Grip

Androscoggin.

The horsemen look forward to some very interesting races at the State Fair track in Lewiston July 3d and 4th. Everybody has agreed that the Androscoggin Horse Breeder's Association have been very successful in securing so many good horses for the meeting. The plan was to have three days races but the three-minute and free-for-all classes did not fill sufficiently to warrant it. With two days trotting, however, by such well-known trotters as will be noted in the list of entries, there is likely to be plenty of entertainment. In addition to the regular entries many will be glad to learn that Mr. Drake's Glenarm will be seen at the track on the days of the trot. Bayard Wilkes, the fast pacer will be there and Thayer of South Paris will give Belle Chase a fast mile. Warrener and Pa'm and other of the blooded horses from the Maple Grove Farm will also be shown.

"Did you know that horses were having the grip?" asked our down town friend of the Journal reporter. "A fact, just the same. It takes them in the hind leg or hip and they act as though the joints were immovable. It progresses and attacks the foreleg. They swell and festers form and break. They act delirious and troubled and suffer much. My horses have been laid up and I just met a Lewiston physician whose horses have just been attacked."

Brookton.

The Methodists of Houlton are building a new church. They have divided the old church and moved the sections into their proper places, where they will be utilized as wings to the main building which is now being framed.

Cumberland.

When the contract for the bronze for the soldier's monument at Portland, was made, Sculptor Simmons was paid $6,991.67. When the models were accepted he drew on the association for the same amount. The third and last instalment of $6,666-67, minus the amount paid by the association for freight from Rome to Portland, a trifle over $600 now awaits his order. The completed structure when ready to turn over to the city will have cost the association over $30,000.

Roxbury.

City Marshal Bunker and Officer King, of Waterville, paid a visit last Sunday afternoon to the field below Nathaniel Meader's on Silver street, where they had been informed that some of the younger French boys had been in the habit of convening on that day for the purpose of engaging in the national game. As the officers approached they were seen by the boys, who sprinted in all directions, leaving coats, hats, etc., behind them. The officers captured enough of them to start a second hand clothing store and also one culprit, who was released on his promise not to participate again in the great game during the Sabbath.

Knox.

At the town meeting held in Watts Hall, Thomaston, Wednesday afternoon, it was voted to raise $9,000 for the building of a new bridge with stone abutments, and the selectmen to receive sealed proposals for the building of the same. It is thought by many of the citizens that the new bridge should be a short distance farther up the river than the present one, and thus avoid the steep hill on the opposite shore.

Piscataquis.

A fine public hall is now being built in Montague.

Somerset.

Horace Cooley, whose leg was badly fractured about a month ago, died suddenly Friday, reports the Solon Times. Mr. Cooley had suffered intense pain most of the time since the accident.

Washington.

All the saw mills on the St. Croix river are now in full operation. Messrs. H. F. Eaton & Sons' mills were shut down for two weeks, causing a large number of men to remain idle during that time.

Posters are issued for a celebration at Calais the coming fourth of July. Princeton is also to have a celebration and offers a very attractive programme. Meddybemps is also to celebrate.

William Pettigrew's house at Machiasport, was entirely destroyed by lightning Wednesday morning during the tempest. His loss is $800. No insurance.

E. D. Tasker, the noted horse dealer of Gardiner, Me., was in Calais recently looking after more Olympus horses, and purchased a fine chestnut gelding of S. F. Hayward of Baring. He speaks very highly of Olympus stock, he wants a mate for the chestnut mare he purchased of Robert Pottle at Red Beach two years ago. The mare mentioned is owned by Bradstreet, the lumber merchant at Gardiner, who is desirous of getting a mate of same stock. Mr. Tasker expects to be here again in a few weeks.

Daisy Golding, of Perry, the baby exhibitor twelve twelve years ago, will be remembered by many. Then, at thirteen months of age, she weighed seventy-five pounds. She is now a young lady in her teens, but weighs only ninety-two pounds, so an exchange records. She appears to have gained only a pound a year since she was advertised as a phenomenon.

York.

The Biddeford police were sent after an instalment peddler the other morning, who has been disposing of clothes wringers for about three times the price asked by the hardware dealers. The peddler had his license, however, duly issued by the secretary of state.

Experiment Stations.

PRACTICAL ILLUSTRATIONS BEING PREPARED FOR THE COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

The exhibit of the agricultural experiment stations of the United States promises to be not one of the least interesting features of the Chicago Exposition. One portion of the proposed exhibit, which will be likely to attract general attention, is an experiment station in operation, with its office, laboratories, etc., illustrating how the indoor work of a station is actually carried on. In another portion of the exhibit each station will present, by means of maps, diagrams, pictures, sets of publications, etc., a full statement of its location, equipment, lines of work, etc., so that the visitor can, if he desires, follow out in detail the history and the work of any particular station.

The main feature, however, will be a topical exhibit of the work of the stations as a whole. In this it is not proposed to make a full showing of the work of any single station, but to make a unified exhibit showing the kind of work done by the stations, the way in which they do it, and some of the more important results which they have reached. The preparation of the exhibit is in the hands of a Committee of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations co-operating with the United States Department of Agriculture. Assistant Secretary Willits of the Department has taken a deep interest in the matter and has promised substantial aid on the part of the Department to the Stations in making the exhibit.

At a meeting of the Committee held recently in Chicago the preparation of the different departments of the exhibit was assigned to the following gentlemen:

Experiment Station in Operation—Director of the Experiment Stations.
The Exhibit of the Individual Stations—H. P. Armsby, Penn.
Soils—E. W. Hilgard, California.
Manuring—C. E. Thorne, Ohio.
Crops—C. B. Plumb, Indiana.

Botany—S. M. Tracy, Miss.
Animal Nutrition—W. H. Jordon, Maine.

Columbus Relics.

PROPOSED REPRODUCTION OF THE LA RABIDA AT THE EXPOSITION.

The World's Fair Directory is recommended by its foreign affairs committee to appropriate $50,000 for the purpose of building at Jackson Park, a fac simile of the ancient convent of La Rabida, of Palos, Spain. It is believed that this would be the most appropriate structure possible in which to exhibit the large number of relics of Columbus which is being collected. If the project is carried out, as it seems probable it will be, this building and its contents will doubtless be one of the Exhibition attractions which no visitor will be content to leave without seeing.

It was at the door of the convent of La Rabida that Columbus, disappointed and down-hearted, asked for food and shelter for himself and his child. It was here that he found an asylum for a few years while he developed his plans and prepared the arguments which he submitted to the council at Salamanca. It was in one of the rooms of this convent that he met the Dominican monks in debate, and it was here also that he conferred with Alonzo Plazo, who afterwards commanded one of the vessels of his fleet. In this convent Columbus lived while he was making preparations for his voyage, and on the morning that he sailed from Palos he attended himself the little chapel. There is no building in the world so closely identified with his discovery as this, and fortunately its architecture is of such a character as to permit of a reproduction at a comparatively small cost, and at the same time furnish a picturesque view and appropriate group among the splendid buildings that will be erected at Jackson Park. It will not only be of itself a monument to Columbus, but it will furnish commodious and convenient show rooms for the collections and relics of Columbus that are to be exhibited. Besides a large collection of maps, manuscripts, books and pictures that are being secured, there will be [illegible] and private collections

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. A Boston lady, whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below.

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling so tired and run down with dyspepsia and so weak that at times I could hardly

Jos. W. BOULTER, 1 Beloit Mc, for three years president of the city government and also member of Hon. H. Mansell Post No. 42 G. A. R., is well and favorably known as a thoroughly reliable man. He was under date of March 4, 1890:

"I for some years have been afflicted with Dyspeptic Intensities, Muscular Rheumatism and Nervousness across Kidneys. Added to all this, I was, for two years, daily attacked with a deathly sickness at pit of stomach, followed by a copious flow of water from my mouth that I would vomit, which would relieve me for the time, only to be repeated in a day or two. I commenced taking DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had taken one bottle the deathly sickness departed, and for over four months I have not had the slightest symptom of a return. My stomach heals as well as ever it was in my life. My Bowels are kept as they ought to be, and my Dyspepsia is a thing of the past, and I can eat any kind of food and digest it.

My wife has also taken DANA'S SARSAPARILLA for Biliousness and Neuralgia, and has been helped by it more than by any other medicine she ever took. I consider it a wonderful remedy."

It does what we claim or costs you nothing. Could we make you a fairer offer? Try a bottle now.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1891.

The Philadelphia Press pertinently remarks: "McKinley prices" will win the Ohio campaign. A dollar never brought more in manufactured articles, and, relative the level of price, wages were never higher.

Seventeen hundred men are now employed in the Union Iron Works, the great steel shipbuilding establishment of the Pacific coast, which has sprung up within three or four years at San Francisco. This establishment, like the other great plants in the East, is a tolerably good monument to the wisdom of the Republican plan of encouraging home industry.

The New York Tribune says: The selection of Mr. Flower for Governor by Hill and Tammany having been officially ratified and publicly announced, this would seem to be a suitable time for General Jones to move that the nomination be unanimous. Smith M. Weed would doubtless second that motion and everything would be lovely. What a sweet boon is Democratic harmony!

The Post Office Department has given out the readjustment of the salaries of Presidential Postmasters of the third-class for the New England States. Following are the changes in Maine:

	Old Salary.	New Salary.
	$1 000	4th class
Bath	1,100	$1,200
Brunswick	1,000	1,000
Calais	1,700	1,800
Caribou	1,100	1,200
Ellsworth	1,000	1,100
Foxcroft	1,100	1,300
Houlton	1,600	1,700
Machias	1,300	1,400
Norway	1,400	1,500
Old Town	1,400	1,500
Presque Isle	1,100	1,200
Richmond	1,400	1,500
Sanford	1,200	1,300
Springvale	1,000	1,100

The New York Herald has an item reporting that "Senator Herbert, of Alabama, chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, visited the Navy Yard Thursday." The report is a little mixed, as Representative Herbert, of Alabama, is not chairman of any committee, although he preceded Mr. Boutelle at the head of the House Committee on Naval Affairs and was a member of it in the last Congress. Senator Don Cameron, of Pennsylvania, is chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, but a provincial paper, like the Herald, is not expected to be accurate about such matters.

There is a conflict of opinion between the freetraders of our country and Consul General Booker, of England, in regard to the working of the McKinley tariff law. The latter gentleman, in the discharge of his official duties, reported to the British government that new and higher duties have afforded benefit to American manufacturing interests and imparted life to the cotton and woolen interest everywhere especially in the Southern States. The freetraders stupidly deny that there has been any improvement in industries, but say if there has been it is not due to the new duties. Consul General Booker's report will be more generally credited at home than the denials of the freetraders.

The Democratic Brooklyn Eagle goes for the Mugwump Harper's Weekly with a sharp stick as follows: Harper's Weekly's theory that Mr. Cleveland is the only man who personifies tariff reform illustrates the Mugwump preference for persons to principles. Mr. Cleveland, however, neither exclusively personifies nor in any sense exhausts the issue of tariff reform. Governor Hill, Mr. Carlisle, Congressman Crisp, Roger Q. Mills, Isaac P. Gray are all tariff reformers, and than any one of them on this issue Mr. Cleveland is neither an older soldier, nor a better. Mugwumpery, which began in personal hatred of James G. Blaine, should not progress to personal idolatry of any other man. He who sets up a political idol, worships a doll stuffed with sawdust. He who cherishes a political hate dwarfs his own soul and soaks his life and his language in a solution of spleen. The Eagle favors Mr. Cleveland's nomination 1892; but not on the theory that he has a claim of divine right to be nominated, or that the principles of Democracy did not precede and will not survive him.

The Brooklyn Standard-Union says: Just as every one with any sense expected, the Superior Court of Connecticut has, in effect, decided that Morgan G. Bulkeley is the only person by law authorized to administer the affairs of that State as chief executive. In other words, the court decides that the existing Constitution is the supreme law of the commonwealth, and is to be obeyed, whether it suits individual plans and schemes or otherwise. This is a great blow to those persons who have taken the cue for their puerile opposition from the many-faced D. B. Hill of this State, who deemed himself a Daniel come to judgment, and who "trued out" Gov. Bulkeley, the Connecticut Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding. * * * * In the meantime, Judge Luzon B. Morris, who would like to be Governor, but is not, because the counting-out process in his favor has been upset, is not very anxious 50 press qso warranto suit against Gov. Bulkeley, who holds over. Another effect of this decision will probably be the discouragement of the Democratic industry of interpreting constitutions and imagining facts to fit their wishes to certain cases. It will also serve to show the Democratic party in their true light as obstructionists and disorganizers. It is as a sign bearing the legend "Danger" placed over them.

Speaking of the Bowdoin expedition to Labrador, the Boston Journal of Saturday says: The scientific expedition headed by Professor Lee, of Bowdoin, and organized under the auspices of that well known New England college, which sails for Labrador to-day, is an enterprise of more than usual interest. Though distant less than a fortnight's sailing from our coast, Labrador is practically a terra incognita. Its storm-swept waters are rarely visited nowadays even by our hardy and audacious New England fishermen. The Bowdoin expedition will find an untrodden field before it, and it is well equipped to take full advantage of its opportunities. It would not be surprising if discoveries were made which would prove of world-wide importance. There are traditions that Labrador, in spite of its forbidding external aspect, is wonderfully rich in mineral wealth, and that deposits of iron and other useful metals, and even gold and silver, exist there in almost inexhaustible profusion. The Bowdoin scientists, who intend to push their explorations far inland, can determine whether these traditions have any foundation in fact, or are merely the idle fancies of travelers who touched the edges of this ice-bound region years ago. But the expedition does not go in search of gold and silver, or of iron, coal and lead. Its chief aim is to enlarge the store of the world's knowledge, and in this, unless some unexpected and improbable mishap should befall the party, it will surely be successful. The

An Excellent Appointment.

RACING IN THE RAIN.

The American Athletes in Manchester.

LONDON, June 27. Rain well nigh ruined everything at the amateur athletic championship games at Manchester to-day and a steady downpour of three hours converted the beautiful enclosure into a regular swamp. The outlook was so bad that the executive committee hesitated a long while whether to postpone the meeting or not, and just as they were on the point of setting the games back for Monday the rain stopped and the sun came out.

This brought the people from Cottonopolis in thousands, and at least 5,000 paid the high tariff of 50 cents and 75 cents during the afternoon

The sodden state of the track played havoc with the American contingent, only four of them showing up prominently. Three scored wins right out, while another had to divide honors with an Irish athlete.

The star performances of the day were Luther Cary's running in the 100-yard race and Harry Curtis' seven-mile walk. Cary frightened D Bacon, London Athletic Club, in the third heat of the sprint, which he won in 10 4 5s. Had Bacon run him out, it is almost certain that the American would have done 10s, as the wind had dropped and then the track had not been cut up.

Cary had a very easy thing of it in the final heat, but ran through at his best pace Despite the half gale that was blowing against him, the watches recorded 10 1 5s, which experts say is quite equal to 9 3 5 on a good day and track He came in for an ovation when he broke the tape. Mortimer Remington, Manhattan Athletic Club, won the second heat of the sprint in 10 2-5s, but he did not start in the final heat.

A. B. Green, H L Dadman and J S Rody, all of the Manhattan Club, started in the half mile run, but failed to get places, W J Holmes winning the event in 2m 1 6s

C. A. J Queckberner, the American hammer thrower, won the prize for this event, with 129ft 10 1-4in, which is within 1 3-4in. of W J M Barry's record Had a little more care been exercised in the measurement the American would have been declared some inches ahead of the record An old tape measure was used and by actual test it had stretched three inches Barry was third to Queckberner with 115ft. 8in

These positions were reversed in the shot putting contest, which Barry won with 40ft 8in Queckberner got second prize with 37ft. 10in

Both H L Dadman and Eugene Sarre, Manhattan Club, were entered in the hurdle race, but failed to start, D D Bulger, Dublin University winning in 16 2 5s A B George's exertions were so severe in the half mile race that he would not start in the mile race which was won by J Kibble White in 4m 28 2 5s

The pole jump went to R Watson 11ft 5in Tom Ray was third at 10ft 5in

Of the Americans entered in the quarter mile race—Mortimer Remington, Eugene A Sarre, H I Dadman, J S. Roddy and Luther Cary—only Remington and Roddy started and the first named had a picnic He won the first heat in 51 4 5 seconds, and took the final in 51 seconds He played with his antagonists like a cat does a mouse

H L Hallock was so unfortunate as to knock the bar down in the high jump when it stood at 6ft 5in He was then tied with Arthur Watkinson for the second place T Jennings, Cambridge University, won the purse at 5ft 8 1-2in W I Young started in the four mile race but H D George was absent. W H Morton, who ran in New York with the Salford Harriers, won in 20m 5 1 5s

The seven mile run was a disastrous event for the Americans, as E. D Lane was disqualified in the first mile, and C L Nicoll could only get third to Harry Curtis the English champion His time was 54m 1 5s Nicoll's time was 56m 34 1 5s

The broad jump was also an unfortunate one for the Manhattanites, as Malcolm Ford could only tie D Bulger, Dublin, at 20ft 4in

The two mile steeplechase was won by E W Parry, Spartan Harriers

CORBETT DEFEATS DONOGHOE

Result of the Sculling Race a Great Surprise to the Fraternity

TORONTO, Ont., June 27 The result of the sculling race on Burlington Bay, Hamilton between Dennis Donoghoe the Canadian, and J F. Corbett, of Chicago, was a big surprise to the sporting fraternity and friends of Donoghoe of Hamilton, who thought he would easily get away with the American sculler

There was scarcely a ripple on the bay at the hour, 6:30 set for the race The course was a mile and a half and back and the stakes were $400 a side

There was some betting at 10 to 6 on Donoghoe who was a strong favorite She weighed 160 pounds and Corbett 152. Both were in excellent condition and equally confident of winning The Chicago man had a slight advantage at start, but before going far the two men were rowing a neck and neck race Before the turning buoy was reached, Corbett pulled away from Donoghoe with apparent ease, and led by about one length, rowing a nice, easy stroke.

In turning the buoy Donoghoe was very clumsy and lost a couple of lengths On the home stretch Corbett had the race well in hand, and finished an easy winner by fully five boat lengths

The time at the mile and a half was 10m 23s, and at the finish 21m 1 4s Donoghoe finished in 21m 18 2s.

The race was witnessed by nearly 10,000 people, and if Corbett's friends had more confidence in him, the Hamilton backers of Donoghoe would have lost heavily

There had been some dispute about the selection of a referee, but William O Connor, the well known oarsman, acted with satisfaction to both sides Frank Nelson, sporting editor of the Toronto Globe, who was stakeholder, promptly paid over the money to Corbett

This was the first professional race of these two scullers They had not rowed together since 1889, when Donoghoe beat Corbett at the national amateur regatta Both men were disqualified by their associations, and thus they determined to enter the professional field Donoghoe declared if he was beaten in this race he would give up rowing and stick to his bench He is a cigar maker by trade.

Corbett, who is an inspector for the Chicago Gas Company, says he will not follow the profession of an oarsman, but will stick to his business as he thinks there is more money in that in professional rowing

MULLINS' GANG

Arrest of a Desperate Character

WHEELING, W Va, June 28 Harvey Mullins, leader of the notorious Mullins gang of moonshiners, that has been making whiskey and committing murders and other crimes in McDowell county for seven years, has been arrested with P G Cooper, one of the gang. For years the illicit distilling has been conducted on Mullins' mountains, the gang numbering about twenty five of the most desperate characters The officers who have attempted to arrest them were driven back at the muzzle of Winchesters, and numerous cold blooded murders have been committed in the vicinity. Eight of the gang are under indictment for murder

Mullins himself is said to have killed five men, although a mere boy, and is under indictment for murder and moonshining in West Virginia. His capture was made by Deputy Internal Revenue Collector N. T. Keale, who, taking warning from the fate of other officers, made a still hunt and hid in the woods for several days At last he was rewarded by ambushing Mullins and Cooper. Both were armed—Mullins with a revolver and Cooper with a rifle Mullins attempted to shoot but was knocked down with a clubbed rifle and handcuffed Cooper surrendered when he found he was covered by rifles.

GROWING WEAKER AND WEAKER.

The Condition of Horse Thief McArthur Now in Dover (N. H.) Jail.

PORTSMOUTH, June 27. Sheriff Pingree was asked regarding the condition of Julius H. McArthur, the horse thief, who shot and fatally wounded Deputy Sheriff Charles H. Smith, of Bremingham, as the latter was trying to arrest him. McArthur, while confined in Dover jail, made an ineffectual attempt to commit suicide, but has lingered along, gradually growing weaker and weaker.

The sheriff said that he had not seen McArthur since the death of his deputy, but the statement between him this morning, that he did not think McArthur would live another week, as he partook of scarcely

PRACTICAL POINTS.

Important Naval Manœuvres to Take Place This Summer.

WASHINGTON, June 27. For the first time in the history of this country we are to have a series of naval manœuvres involving the problems of actual warfare as presented in the attack of one of our great maritime ports by a foreign naval force and its defence by the American navy There has been since the war no naval force adequate to carry out manœuvres of any value The squadron of evolution was formed with such a purpose in view, but until recently it was not sufficiently numerous to undertake the solution of the larger naval war problems, and its operations were limited to great gun practice and fleet evolutions. With the recent additions to the naval list, however,

This Obstacle Has Disappeared,

and Secretary Tracy has prepared a scheme to carry out his views, which will be given effect at once. The first movement will be to attach the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius and the torpedo boat Cushing temporary to the squadron of evolution, and orders to that end have already been made out Admiral Walker has also been directed to prepare immediately a programme of manœuvres for the summer and early autumn, which will dispose of the forces under your command to the best advantage, and contribute practical training on the officers and men under conditions following as closely as possible

Those of Actual Warfare

It is intended that the manœuvers shall follow as soon as may be convenient upon the preliminary operations at Boston and New York, to take place in July, the practical object of which is to examine the conditions of the problem of the maritime defence of New York, Long Island Sound and the coast of New England.

It is expected that the double turreted monitor Miantonomoh, now at New York, will be completed in time to take part in the manœuvres.

There will be but one torpedo boat engaged, so that a full demonstration of the efficacy of this class of offensive vessels cannot be thoroughly demonstrated, but arrangements have been made to supply her with fish torpedoes, which will thus be given their

naval operations under conditions approaching those of actual warfare The proposed evolutions, according to Secretary Tracy's view, will be of large practical results The defects of the new ships, if they have any, will be fully revealed and their actual capacity as offensive and defensive forces will be demonstrated There will also be opportunities in plenty for the display of individual enterprise and tactical skill on the part of the officers and of discipline and marksmanship on the part of the men Among the results of the English naval manœuvres were the revelations of startling defects in the system of coaling, engine construction and marine design which have since been followed by notable changes in the English navy, and it is presumed that valuable results will follow Admiral Walker's manœuvres

FIRE FIEND.

Street Railway Property Burned.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass, June 27 This city was visited by a conflagration tonight which destroyed in a short period the property of the Newburyport and Amesbury Street Railway Company valued at between $75,000 and $100,000

The fire started in the northerly end of the car house building, 145 by 35 feet, and spread rapidly to the stable near by a building 160 by 30, and in a few minutes both buildings were in flames Two more alarms were rung in, to which the fire department quickly responded, and after about two hours got the fire under control

Four electrics, five box and four open cars, together with a large amount of electrical supplies, snowplows, etc, were totally destroyed All the horses were rescued It is understood that the loss is fully covered by insurance

A $500,000 Blaze

WILMINGTON, Del, June 28 The old Ferry rolling mill was burned this evening with some adjoining property A space nearly 1 000 feet long and from 100 to 300 feet wide, occupied by the Diamond State Iron Company devoted to the manufacture of bar and horse shoe iron, spikes, bolts, and railway iron, was completely burned over The loss is estimated at $500 000 and is about half covered by insurance The mills were running night and day The fire will throw about 300 men out of employment

Coffee Mill Burned

BALTIMORE, June 28 The four story coffee mill of E Levering & Co and Chase's wharf were burned this evening loss from $100,000 to $110,000 The mill was used to roast coffee and seven large roasters were located on the fourth floor It contained about $30,000 worth of coffee, $40 000 in machinery and equipments The building was valued at about $20,000 Everything is covered by insurance

STILL A MYSTERY

No Solution of the Disappearance of Carson

HAVERHILL, Mass, June 27 The disappearance of A N. Carson is still the talk of the city Not one of his friends believe that he is dead Mrs Carson still declares that she believes that her husband is dead and that he committed suicide, although she is at a loss to assign any cause for his self destruction She says that he had assured her that he had $,000 insurance on his life and in favor of his two children, in some of the benefit organizations, which ones she could not remember She had not, she declared, as yet received the letter addressed to her and found in the boat

Mrs Carson is the only person who sticks to the theory that the miss ng man committed suicide It seems to every one else that it may be a case of "skip" The brothers of Carson scout the idea that he would jump overboard It is known that he was a "home body," and although a dancing man, was seldom seen in public with his family. He was a dutiful fellow, and a great admirer of the fair sex. Some of his friends think that he is now in Canada, where he had many friends, and from which country his mother's family originally came

Charles York, the collector for Hiscom Brothers, to whom one of the letters found in the stateroom of the Portland boat was addressed, was uncommunicative on the subject of Carson's disappearance. He admits that he was on friendly terms with Carson, and that he had made an appointment to meet Carson on the 4 30 o'clock train Friday afternoon, and go thence to Dover, N H, where the two were to attend a high school reception York said that he had not received the letter addressed to him Mrs. Carson is a native of Gardiner, Me., where her brother, A Weeks resides Carson had with him when he left, a gold watch belonging to his wife, and it is not known whether he left it on the boat.

A correspondent saw the father of the missing man this afternoon. He said he could not account for the absence of his son. He could not believe that he had committed suicide He lived happily with his family, was comfortably situated financially, and there is no apparent reason for his action. He further said that he thought he son was living and probably had gone away for a week or so for rest and would return. To support this opinion he said his son had made arrangements with the superintendent of the firm where he worked for a week's absence to rest, which he was much needed. Still, he admitted that there was something about the unhappy affair which he could not understand, but hoped the mystery would soon be cleared up

RAYMOND & WHITCOMB'S MIDSUMMER TOURS.

Summer tourists and pleasure-seekers should read Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's list of July and August tours. Nothing better could well be devised. There are thirty different short trips to select from, and when return tickets in all cases may be extended, the excursion may be made to occupy only a part of the vacation season, a more protracted sojourn being made at some convenient mountain, spring, lake, or seashore retreat. Then, for longer excursions, there are trips to the Yellowstone National Park, the Pacific Coast, and Alaska, with incidental journeys over the picturesque Canadian Pacific Railway. The Yellowstone National Park may be seen in twenty days; the same with the Canadian Pacific route, and the Pacific Northwest in thirty-six days; and Alaska may be added in a tour that occupies only fifty days. The trips to eastern resorts occupy from five to twenty-one days. Descriptive circulars may be obtained of Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston. They will be sent free on application.

On the arrival of this stupendous consolidation, the realization of and expectancy of all readers and beholders is consummated on witnessing the inauguration of the day's revelry in the fullest development of dazzling display ever conceived, the marvellous free street pageant and parade—over a mile of solid and continuous wonders and wealth, say Barnum & Bailey Imagination can conceive of nothing finer, greater or grander! The dream of splendor is eclipsed only by the more magnificent and mighty spectacular of "Nero, or the Destruction of Rome" This part alone of Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth is arranged in several grand and magnificent spectacles or tableaux, in one of which the greatest ballet ever organized is presented and in which no less than 300 famous dancers and beautiful maidens are seen at one and the same moment gracefully posing, or in movements responsive to the strains of the orchestra Space will not permit even a partial description of this truly wonderful spectacle, in which chariot races, combats, contests, songs, music and triumphal scenes abound It must be seen, and several times, to be appreciated

Previous to the presentation of this part of the extensive programme the mammoth hippodrome, ceriel and double elevated performances are given in three rings, and upon two stages and in the racing track. There are besides the menageries and elephant pavillions, a horse fair tent with 400 head of premium horses and innumerable other features, the whole forming such a combination and collection of attractions as to astonish and bewilder the whole of Europe. It was presented by a number of friends who gathered around the young captain to express their satisfaction at the admirable manner in which he had handled his company, and the kind feelings he had won during the year that he was in command. The sword is a beauty, and will doubtless be prized by Capt. French as long as he lives.

"Aim High" was the class motto, and this was placed on the wall in the rear of the stage on a white spear A large specimen of the glorious stars and stripes covered the wall back of the stage. Over head were suspended an evergreen bow and arrow The effect was quite striking

The pupils marched in by the large door and filled to the stage, where they took seats, the girls on one side in their white dresses and the boys on the other in their dark suits, making a very pretty picture Principal Tilton and his capable assistants also occupied seats on the platform The exercises were opened with an impressive prayer by Rev. The brusque and fussy impulse of these days of false impression would rate down all as worthless because one is unworthy.

As if there were no motes in sunbeams!

Or comets among stars!

Or cataracts in peaceful rivers!

Because one remedy professes to do what it never was adapted to do, are all remedies worthless?

Because one doctor lets his patient die, are all humbugs?

It requires a fine eye and a finer brain to discriminate—to draw the differential line.

"They say" that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have cured thousands.

"They say" for a weak system there's nothing better than the "Discovery," and that the "Favorite Prescription" is the hope of debilitated, feeble women who need a restorative tonic and bracing nervine.

And here's the proof—

Try one or both. If they don't help you, tell the World's Dispensary Medical Associa-

A Deaf and Dumb Policeman.

There are many positions that a deaf mute can fill as well as a man in possession of all of his faculties, but patrolling a beat as a policeman is about the least likely occupation in which a deaf and dumb man might be expected. Cleveland, O., however, has, or had not long ago, a deaf and dumb policeman, who has walked a beat for years and never given occasion for complaint. It is said he lost the power of hearing and speech by a stroke of paralysis, but recovered his health without regaining all his faculties. He was on the force at the time and begged to be retained.

The authorities were loth to discharge him, so gave him a trial. He proved as efficient as the others, and so held his position. He wore a badge, "Deaf and Dumb Policeman," but answered in writing any questions that were asked him as intelligently as any one. As he cannot hear a sound, he is obliged to be more than usually watchful; his eyes are always on the move, and he sees everything that occurs in his vicinity.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Washing Away the Earth.

A French geologist has made a careful calculation of the amount of solid matter yearly carried off into the ocean by the action of the rivers of the world and other causes. He estimates that the reduction of the average height of the surface of the solid land is 0.008 inches each year. Making allowance for the corresponding rise in the bed of the ocean, and taking no account of the occurrence of volcanic and other exceptional phenome-

CLEVER PARIS ROGUES.

METHODS ADOPTED BY FRENCH THIEVES TO SECURE BOOTY.

Crooks That Act with Surpassing Skill and Cunning—The Success Which Attends Their Efforts Is Due to Their Wonderful Tact—Some Examples.

Unless some means can be found for counteracting the ingenuity of the Paris swindler it seems clear that the French capital will quite outdo London and New York as the favorite home of the chevalier d'industrie.

That the Paris thieves have earned their reputation may be inferred from the fact that their slang is among the most rich in words and phraseology.

Le bonjourrier, for instance, is the man who knocks at your door early in the morning, and if he hears no reply will come in and take the toquante, or "ticker," or whatever else he can find upon your table and mantelshelf. Watches, however, may be stolen at all hours by the bonjourrier, and this is only one of his devices to gain possession of your property. A very good story is told at his own expense by one of our judges. He was trying a case in which a witness swore that he could not fix the exact time of a particular event because he had left his watch at home accidentally.

The counsel was rather skeptical about this, whereupon the judge said: "There is nothing unusual in that. Why, only this morning I left my watch on the dressing table and did not recollect it till, before entering the court, I wanted to find out the time." When the judge got home he found that a messenger had visited the house, mentioned the judge's forgetfulness, described where the watch was and asked for it to take to the owner. Then the judge remembered what he had said in open court.

THE SAUFFBOX TRICK.

The sans chagrin, or "griefless one," goes into a shop and has brought out before him a quantity of different articles. He then feigns epilepsy, and with the aid of a bit of soap he foams at the mouth. He has for accomplices a learned Æsculapius, who comes in, accompanied by a friend. During the fit of epilepsy the friend and the Æsculapius are ransacking the till or otherwise earning their livelihood.

The coup de la tabatiere, or snuffbox trick, is still occasionally resorted to, but that ingenious race of traders, the French female shopkeepers, are exceedingly suspicious of gentlemen who are addicted to the practice of "taking a punch" in their presence. One of them has recently been victimized in an artistic style by a swindler of this sort. He was accoutered in garments suitable to the age and character of a person devoted to snuffing, and had all the appearance of having attained at least his sixtieth year. He called for watches and chains and spoke incidentally of his granddaughter, for whom he purposed on a future occasion to buy a wedding present at the same shop. He then selected one of the watches and one of the chains—not a very costly one—put them on and inspected himself in the looking glass at the other end of the shop.

Returning to the counter he expressed his satisfaction to the merchande, and taking out his snuffbox further testified to his feelings of gratification by indulging in a good pinch. While the box was in his hands it seemed polite to offer it to the lady, who did not, however, happen to be an admirer of the brown dust. She had hardly declined the offer when the whole contents of the box were thrown in her eyes, and before she could recover from the shock the would be sexagenarian was careering along the street at a pace which would have done honor to a Paris-gamin or street boy.

TRULY A FRIEND IN NEED.

The following is a true story which happened to me and an artist friend of mine. At 11 o'clock p. m. we were about leaving a small house in one of the avenues radiating from the Arc de Triomphe, where we had spent the evening. Unfortunately, however, the concierge cordon was broken and he could not find the key. It was impossible for us to get out by the door or for those of the tenants of the house who were abroad to get in. The concierge begged a tenant on the ground floor to let us get out by one of his windows and we promised to go after a locksmith.

All the shops were shut, however, and none of the locksmiths in the quarter would take the trouble to answer when we rang the bell. Under the circumstances the proper thing to do was to hail a policeman, but never a sergeant de ville could we find, though we went a long way down each of the avenues in turn. Failing to find an officer we asked where was the nearest police station. The one in the Ternes quarter had been shut up for a couple of hours, the one at Batignolles the same, and at a third we were simply sent about our business.

It was now 1 o'clock in the morning, and a long line of benighted tenants was drawn up before the fast closed door. We—their would be deliverers—were beginning to lose courage when a very suspicious looking individual—there were a good many of that sort about—stumbled against us. My friend the artist, who had all his wits about him, stopped the man quietly, and taking off his hat said, "I beg your pardon, sir, but you don't happen to have a jimmy and a set of skeleton keys in your pocket?" The man looked at both of us suspiciously for a moment and then whispered, "Is it to crack a crib?" The painter briefly explained the difficulty and the service required.

"All right," said the mysterious one, "but clear off the crowd. I don't want to give free lessons."

We returned to the house, announced that a locksmith had been found, and begged the benighted ones to give him a wide berth. They let him pass, the lock was picked in the twinkling of an eye and the night prowler was overwhelmed with thanks. I wanted to give him forty cents for his trouble, but drawing himself up he with much dignity exclaimed, "No, sir, not among pals."—New York Herald.

BASEBALL IN CITY STREETS.

It Has Its Delights and Difficulties and It Produces Good Players.

With the boys' games I am more at home. Let us see whether you will not learn from these boys some games to take to your friends out of town.

First and foremost comes baseball. If any one doubts the universal popularity of this game, one afternoon upon the street will convince him that the American boys' love of baseball has become hereditary. It seems almost as if these boys no sooner left the cradle than a baseball found its way into their hands. They commence to play as soon as they can roll a ball across the pavement. From a real game, with nine "men" on a side and three bases, we shall see everything in ball playing, down to the solitary younster who rolls the ball up an awning and catches it as it returns to him. And these boys can play baseball too. I hesitate to admit it, for I was a country boy; but I'll warrant you that from the inhabitants of a block I can select nine boys, none of whom shall be over ten years of age, who can defeat the best nine of thirteen-year-old fellows your village can produce.

They play in the streets; they play on the sidewalk, and they go at it with a vim and earnestness one grows enthusiastic in watching. They pitch "curves," and why their catchers' intent and maskless little faces are not more frequently damaged by the bat they "catch off" of, no one can say. All this, remember, on the cobblestones, with slippery car tracks dividing the "field," and wagons, drays and cars constantly passing.

On any field a quick and practiced eye is required to measure the arc of a "fly ball," and to select the spot from which it may be captured; but when the ground is a crowded street, and there is added the more or less rapidly passing vehicle, the chances are even that the fielder may get under a horse's hoofs and the descending "fly" at the same time. Many narrow escapes have I seen, but somehow the active little bodies always manage to be missed.

But the cars and wagons and pedestrians are as nothing, the players look out for the former two, the last must care for themselves if they wish to avoid a batted ball or a runner making a frantic dash for "first." What these boys really mind, because it is an effectual preventive of ball playing, is the blue coated policeman, known by the boys as a "cop," an abbreviation of "copper," the origin of which name is underfoot.

Here is a game in active progress, there is intense excitement; shouts of encouragement fill the air. Turn away your head for an instant. Now look again. Where are our players? Not one of them to be seen; only a few boys strolling along the sidewalk, not a bat nor ball in sight. What does it all mean? Truly, you have never seen so abrupt an ending to a game of ball. But look, coming up the street, a block or more away, in all the stateliness of blue uniform and brass buttons, idly twirling his club, comes the awe inspiring "copper."

For you must remember that it is illegal to play baseball in the street, and every player is liable to imprisonment. How would you like to have one of your games so interrupted? Is the game ended? By no means, wait a moment, this is only "time." Slowly the retreating blue-coat fades in the distance; then like magic each player resumes his place, and the game is resumed with all its former ardor.—Frank M. Chapman in St. Nicholas.

Keeping Polarization.

The polarization of the human body can be proved by allowing a strong current to flow through the body from one end to the other, the hands being placed in two basins connected with the poles. The hands are then dried and placed in two other basins of water, connected with the wires of a delicate galvanometer. A current in the reverse direction to the original one is then found to flow from the body.—Boston Transcript.

Settled at Last.

It has finally been settled in Scotland that after a single man and woman have kept company for fourteen years, and have not denied to outsiders that they contemplated matrimony, that the man can be sued for breach of promise, and that no further proof shall be needed by the plaintiff.—Detroit Free Press.

In a plea of the case on account annexed, for nine days' labor at driving certain hemlock logs, marked H. x P. on Wyman brook, a tributary of Passadumkeag river, and on which said logs he claims a lien for his said services in the sum of $2 50. And as appears by the writ in said action, the officer makes the following return thereon.
